2. Raamatukogu teadus- ja arendustegevuse (edaspidi T&A) iseloomustus

2.1. Raamatukogu T&A kirjeldus ja tähtsamad tulemused

Raamatukogul ei ole sihtotstarbeliselt finantseeritavat põhiteemat. Raamatukogu tegevusvaldkondadeks on raamatukogu- ja infoteenindus, raamatukogu- ja infoteaduse alane teadus- ja arendustegevus, infootsingu nõustamine ja lugejakoolitus ning sellest tulenev vastavasisuline arendustöö. Lugejakoolitus toimub ülikooli õppetöö raames. Tegevusvaldkondadeks on veel TTÜ teadusbibliograafia ja Eesti tehnikaartiklite bibliograafia koostamine, ning Eesti tehnikahariduse ajaloo uurimine. Raamatukogu tegevusvaldkondade arendamiseks korraldatakse peamiselt rakendus- ja arendusuuringuid.

Raamatukogu direktor Jüri Järs on TTÜ nõukogu ja TTÜ nõukogu teaduskomisjoni liige ning asedirektor Gerda Koidla TTÜ keeltekeskuse nõukogu liige.

Raamatukogu tegevuskulusid ja teadusinformatsiooni hankimist finantseeritakse lisaks TTÜ-le ka Haridus- ja Teadusministeeriumi poolt.

Raamatukogu teadus- ja arendustööde teemad. The research and development topics were as follows:

Topic: The efficiency of library and information services.

In 2013 the research and development areas within the topic were as follows:

- Optimization of the library service, collection allocation and job management. Jüri Järs, Gerda Koidla, Siret Mikumets, Taimi Nurmiste, Tuuliki Tõiste, Aiki Tibar
- E-learning and b-learning information literacy (IL) courses for students. Leader Taimi Nurmiste
- Development of integrated information system and e-library. Leader Jüri Järs
- A study on information needs and information-seeking behaviour of academic and research staff at TUT. Aiki Tibar

Optimization of the library service and several innovations were based on the results of the user satisfaction survey of 2012. Improvements in the reliability of printing service and the relevant guidelines were made in co-operation with service provider Overall Eesti Ltd. Reservation system of group and individual study rooms was updated, new application was worked out and changes were made in guidelines. Lighting was improved at scanning devices, changes were made in summer opening hours, various user training sessions were organized in addition to study plan.

During March 11-22 a study was conducted to measure seating occupancy rate at the library. The study results indicated that there were enough seats and computers in open reading area. Additional seats were placed to group and individual study rooms.

In acquisition of scientific literature and textbooks the library specialists consulted with academic and research staff at TUT to specify titles and the number of copies. Some changes were made in allocation of textbook collection and the relevant scheme. The full collection of TUT transactions was gathered and placed at the 2nd floor of the library.

New instructions were worked out for more efficient job management that regulate the work with readers, reservation of study rooms, procedures for checking various collections, etc. Software was developed for preserving and searching data about exchange of books and journals with foreign libraries.

E-learning and b-learning information literacy (IL) courses for students. Training information skills is a major part of work of subject librarians of information services department. The most successful IL course for all first-year students is the blended (hybrid) course „Generic information skills“ as part of the obligatory course „Organization of Studies“. 1163 new students passed the course in 2013. The practical part of this course is a web-based information search in the Moodle environment (641 students passed this part) and in the learning environment, worked out at TUT Library (516 students passed this part). Subject librarians delivered lectures and exercises for 1544 bachelor students in the amount of 377 hours in 2013.

E-learning IL courses “Specialized Information Retrieval” in specific subjects for master students were offered in Moodle environment. 436 students passed these courses in 2013.

The library course “Chemical Information” (KYF3630) for bachelor and master students of the faculty of Chemical and Materials Technology was submitted to the competition “ Quality mark of e-course in 2014”.

Development of integrated information system and e-library. The topic covers the design of integrated information system and e-library, including working out, testing and putting into practice special software applications.

The arrangements were made for moving the administration of computers, user accounts and e-mail services from library IT division to the IT department of TUT. In December 33 computers at the readers area were moved into the university INTRO domain. For improving the WiFi transmission it was manually adjusted the strength and frequency of the transmitters. The UPS was installed for audio information system, which guarantees the work of the system during power breakdown. For ensuring silent work environment at the readers area the colour printer was moved into computer class. For the readers with visual disability the magnifying equipment and scanning workstation with audio output were installed.

The new web-based internal module of the publications database was tested and the proposals for software improvement were compiled. The QR code was implemented for reserving individual and groupworking rooms via smart mobile phone. The self-service check-in workstation software was upgraded (restart via remote access, queue numbers in the list of returned books, printer error messages by e-mail). For the gallery exhibition of the museum special workstations (kiosks) were created and tuned up. The requirements and design possibilities of the mediabank of TUT (at the museum) were discussed.

Participation in joint activities of ELNET Consortium: development of e-catalogue ESTER (system parameters, new icons, design of advanced search, Javascript and mobile applications etc.), introducing new releases of Millennium software and summarizing the results of user satisfaction study of e-catalogue. The preparations were made for merging Tallinn and Tartu systems. At the ELNET working group of information retrieval portal the documents for public procurement tender were prepared.

The aim of the study on information needs and information-seeking behaviour of academic and research staff at TUT is to analyse research and teaching information needs and patterns of information seeking, and to compare results with the findings of a similar study carried out in 2004-2007. Data collection is based on a questionnaire survey and interviews. In 2013 the questionnaire guide was developed in co-operation with some researchers at TUT and subject specialists of the library. A questionnaire survey will be carried out in the beginning of 2014.

Topic: Evolution of engineering thinking and engineering education in Estonia. Role of engineers in building up Estonian state, economy and culture

The research identified factors of development of Estonian language of technology. The rise of Estonian as a language of higher education and science in the country emerged during the 1920s and 1930s. Faculty members of the Tallinn School of Technology then published the first textbooks composed in the Estonian language for students of technology. The Estonian Society for Technology and The Estonian Association of Engineers became seriously involved in linguistic activities and published literature on technology. Journals of technology introduced innovations in the lexicon of technology to the general public.

Research results were published in journals and collections, as well as presented at an international congress in Manchester, England.

Topic: Management and effectiveness in an organization governed by public law (based on the example of a university library)

The aim of the research topic is to find out possibilities and necessity for performance management, more effective work organization and management of finances in organizations governed by public law. Within the framework of the topic the following methods and indicators are used: contemporary methods of finance and performance management in an organization governed by public law (as a university library); effectiveness – activity-based costing and activity-based management, time-driven activity-based costing, method of complex analysis, its application in an organization governed by public law; total quality management (TQM) in a public sector; effectiveness of research results and quality in an university governed by public law; as well as indicators of the employees (satisfaction, performance, development of skills, motivation and commitment). The topic is connected with doctoral studies of Kate-Riin Kont (Tallinn University) and Signe Jantson (Tallinn University of Technology).

In 2013 the data of the questionnaire survey in four university libraries (2011-2012) was analysed. Attitudes of librarians towards job satisfaction, work organization, learning, self-development and assessment of performance were brought out. In 2012-2013 processes of acquisition and cataloguing in two university libraries were studied. In 2013 a study of service process was started and continues in 2014.
